Description

Pidhirtsi. Castle

Pidhirtsi Castle is a pearl of palace architecture in western Ukrainian lands. Located among the picturesque Voronyaky's wooded hills it reveals its image from afar – the highway Lviv – Kyiv. From its lush Baroque terrace you can see the vast expanses of the lowlands of Lesser Polissya in the north.

In the years 1635-40th the owner of these territories, Crown Hetman Stanislav Koniecpolskyi, invested significant funds in the design and construction of the castle-palace complex, attracting prominent European specialists for work: engineer Guillaume de Beauplan (bastion fortifications), architect Andrea del Aqua (palace building). At the same time, an Italian park was build near the castle.

A new stage in the formation of the complex dates to the XVIII century, when the castle was renovated after military destruction, and the territory was expanded. There was a Castle Inn, a unique rotunda church. The palace galleries exhibited a luxurious collection of paintings, works of decorative art, and furniture. The castle, and especially its art collection, suffered during the world wars. With the beginning of the Second World War in 1939, part of the collection of paintings was transported to Brazil. In 1949, a sanatorium (treatment centre) for patients with tuberculosis was opened here. In 1997, thanks to the requests of the public and the active actions of the director of the Lviv Art Gallery Borys Voznytskyi, the Castle was included as part of the museum (now the Lviv National Gallery of Art named after B.G. Voznytsky). Restoration work has begun, which continues to this day. Pidhirtsi Castle retains an elegant Renaissance musical harmony, prompting to complete its original image – with the Mirror, Gold, Yellow, Green, Karmazin, Knight's Halls, Mosaic and Chinese cabinets.
